Nancy Wynne Talks of the Army and Navy Game Today.
She Hears Various Interesting Bits About People and Things

ISN'T it wonderful to have the Army and Navy game here once more? If did seem too bad we had to lose it for several years, because we had no field with seats enough to accommodate the crowds, and so the game was played in New York.

This year, however, Penn has built its fine new stadium, which holds its thousands upon thousands and the Army and Navy are with us once more.

I hear Jack Potter, who spent a lot of time in London during the war, and traveled over here with the Prince of Wales, has asked Lord and Lady Mountbatten on his here to visit his parents at their home in St. James street and to attend the game. The Mountbattens are on here for a part of their honeymoon and it will be interesting to meet them.

Lord Mountbatten is of the old house of Hatten, but during the late war so disliked the German name (and for that matter it was disliked by the English, too) that King George made it to its English equivalent and made it Mountbatten. Jack Potter's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Potter and they live at 2217 St. James place.

Mr. Edward W. Clark, 3d, of 7925 Lincoln drive, Chestnut Hill, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Ritz-Carlton in honor of Mr. James R. Foy, Jr., of Chestnut Hill, and Miss Barbara C. Len, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Len, of West Chester, Devon. The marriage of Mr. P. E. Woodworth to Miss Ethel Gurney, of December 2. The guests included Mrs. Barclay McFadden, Mrs. Fitz-Eugene Dixon Newbold, Mrs. Norton Brown, Jr., Mrs. Frank T. Clark, Mrs. J. W. Franklin T. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hallowell, V. Morgan, Mrs. Orville H. Bullitt, Mrs. Edward N. Wright, 5d, Mrs. Lydia Thayer, Mrs. J. Hamilton Chester, Mrs. Pauline H. Wallace, Mrs. Edward Winslow Taylor, Mrs. Alexander Cox, Yarnall, Mrs. Crawford C. Macrae, Mrs. John P. Hollingsworth, Mr. Robert Meier, Mrs. William West Fenster, Mrs. Clarence H. Parker, Mrs. Robert McLean, Mrs. James T. Lissauer, Mrs. Mary Helen Cadwallader, Mrs. Louis Dolph, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. H. Howland, Ellen Douglas Lloyd, Mrs. Mary Dixon Thayer and Miss Mary F. Gladwin, and Mr. and Mrs. Clark entertained at dinner Wednesday evening. Covers were held to cover up.

But we do love them, those funny boys, and they are so winning and so important and they get such hard jobs the year after they have come out and have to take a back seat for the other girls.

IMUST tell you about the party Mrs. Alexander Brinton Coxie is giving in January for her granddaughter Agnes Yarnall and her fiance, Mr. and Mrs. Norris First. I heard it was to be a dinner-dance on December 15; then I heard it was to be a dance on January 10, and then I heard it was to be a dinner-dance and on the 15th, after all. And the invitations were not yet out and so how could one tell? The only way was to go to headquarters, which I did and this is what I learned from Mrs. Coxie herself.

When they first talked of it, they decided on a dinner dance for the 15th, and later changed to the 10th, for a dance. For some reason, however, the first date was found to be a better one, but the party will not be a dinner-dance. So the final truth about it is that Mrs. Alexander Brinton Coxie will give a ball on Monday evening, January 15, in honor of her granddaughter Agnes Yarnall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yarnall and Mrs. Helen Wharton Norris, daughter of Mr. C. C. Pinckney Norris, and not a dinner.

SPEAKING of Helen Norris, did you know that she is taking a special course at the Orthopedic Hospital in the mornings? She is deeply interested in it and expects to keep on next year. She is going to parties, but not letting them interfere with her work. Helen and her father are living at 1902 Chestnut street for the winter. Mary Davis, of Williamsport, is coming on early next month to spend a fortnight with Helen.

YOU will be glad to hear that Jane Goodman, who was operated upon for appendicitis last Monday at the Jefferson Hospital, is recuperating splendidly. Jane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Goodman, of Chestnut Hill and a first cousin of Sue Goodman, who is a debutante of this year. The William Goodmans live at 8890 Germantown avenue.

IHEAR that Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Learned, husband of Chestnut Hill, has postponed the dance for their daughter, Julia Hobard, from December 15 to December 25, and invitations will soon be issued. Julia has had a severe attack of typhoid fever, you know, but it is rapidly getting better. Even one so glad to see them will begin to talk to all the parties.

They have been having serious cases of typhoid in Chestnut Hill, of late. Mrs. Henry McKeon was one of those taken down with it, and Mrs. Ernest Savage, who, you remember, was Miss Jane Yeatman, was desperately ill for a while, too.

Beatrice Mockridge, daughter of the Rev. Dr. John Mockridge and Mrs. Mockridge, was introduced at a tea yesterday at their home on Twenty-second street, next to St. James Church. (You know Dr. Mockridge is rector of the church.) Beatrice is white-velvet and looked sweet in a white cape, chinchilla fur-trimmed with a ground nest and short sleeves edged with a fur-trimmed hood, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Mockridge wore a handsome gown of black satin trimmed with steel beads, while her other daughter, Miss Elisabeth Mockridge, who has wonderful reddish hair, was in emerald green satin tied in black lace.

The George Wills Bortons, of Germantown, gave a beautiful party at the Ritz-Carlton, in aid of the Juvenile Fund, on Tuesday evening next at the Opera House. The guests for the social evening included the members of the Juvenile Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Sartori, of 2325 Locust street, Germantown, will have a theatrical party to follow by a dinner at the Ritz-Carlton on Friday evening, December 15, at the Acorn Club, at the home of Miss Elizabeth Morris and their daughter, Miss Priscilla L. Hooper.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cool, father of Germonton, have issued invitations for a dance at the Montclair Cricket Club on Friday evening, January 6, in honor of the debutante, Miss Nora Ward Brodhead.

TONIGHT we have the Supper Club's second meeting, and I hear that great many of the Army and Navy men will be there. Also Lord and Lady Mountbatten, who are a debutante this year. The Potters are among the most enthusiastic members of the Supper Club since its institution here some eight or nine years ago. Mrs. Hutchinson Scott, of New York, charmers the club with its group each week-end in this city.

I SAW Evelyn Martin in town the other day in Chestnut street looking very well. She is wearing an attractive costume of blue devoretweeude with a rather tight-fitting coat, three-quarter length, and a hobble.
